72nd Edition

Armstrong Township High School
Box 37
Armstrong, IL 61812

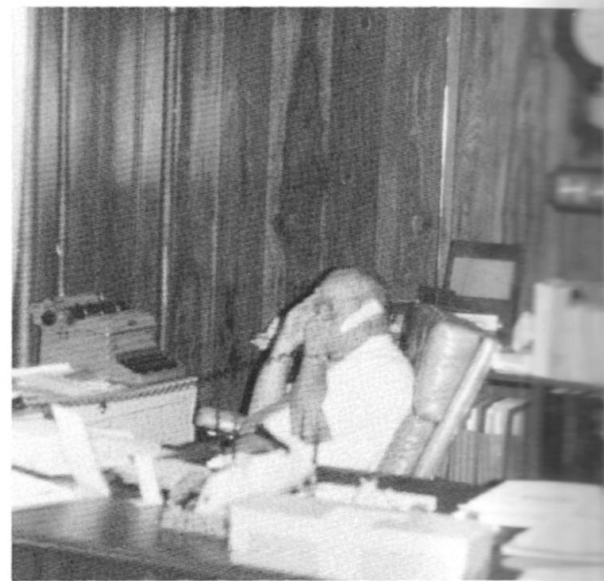

This quote, from Educator's Lifetime Library of Stories, Quotes, Anecdotes, Wit and Humor, describes Mr. Wise:

"It doesn't take much to be a superintendent these days—just a willingness to try the impossible, do without the indispensable, and endure the intolerable"

Farewell, Mr. Wise

As the seniors graduate, they will not be the only ones bidding Armstrong High farewell for a different road or a change of pace. Students and faculty will be losing a valuable friend.

Mr. Byron Wise, superintendent, will be retiring at the close of this school year. After spending nearly 40 years as a teacher and administrator, he is ready for a change of pace. Mr. Wise, during times of serious cutbacks, volunteered his time and services as a basketball coach and substitute teacher. Since 1980, Mr. Wise has administered Armstrong's affairs with great care and efficiency. He has been the backbone and the strength through good times and bad, victory or defeat; he has been there proclaiming his support and displaying his pride in Armstrong High. He always took the time to lend a helpful hand or brighten the day for many.

Armstrong High will not be the same; missing will be the warm smile, helpful hand, and the steady influence. Precious memories will always remain with us, and we are better people for having known him. So as the 1989-90 school year comes to a close and Mr. Wise retires, he undoubtedly has proven to each student here at Armstrong that to make their dreams and aspirations come true, they must work diligently for a brighter tomorrow.

We hope that Mr. Wise leaves Armstrong with many happy memories. He will be missed by one and all. We lovingly dedicate Resume '90 to him.

Creating a good yearbook is always a challenge, and this year has been no exception. We, as co-editors, led the way to Resume '90, a yearbook of lasting memories of the past school year. We have the utmost confidence that this yearbook will bring you as much fun, excitement, and pride as we have felt while working on it.

We started off the year by attending the yearbook seminar at the University of Illinois. There we learned information for setting up a good yearbook and related it to the rest of the staff who did not attend. At our first meeting, we assigned ads and pages to every staff member. We were in charge of seeing that ads were sold to finance our yearbook. A big responsibility was to continually remind the staff to complete their pages in order to meet the deadlines. As we worked to complete our pages, we were also busy offering assistance to any of the staff who needed help. When pages were completed, it was our task to proofread before the shipment could be mailed.

Even though it was a lot of work, with the help of a hard-working yearbook staff, cooperative school faculty, and great yearbook advisers, Mrs. Roberts and Mrs. Knight, we were able to put together this 88-page summary of your 89-90 school year. Although we were not able to capture every moment, we hope that this Resume brings you many fond memories in the years to come. We have left behind the privilege of being co-editors in the hope that it will bring someone else as much fun and frustration as it has to us. However, we also have left behind what we hope is a book full of happy memories for you to enjoy now and always.

In Memoriam

We will all miss Wilbur Millis, a clever and caring man much loved and respected by everyone. He was the busdriver who endeared us with his heart of gold and a mind for the best tricks ever played at Armstrong High. Always ready with an indecipherable smile (WHAT WAS HE UP TO NOW?!), a harmless joke or cheerful remark, Wilbur was a champion at lightening the load of seriousness that weighs upon everyone during the long school day.

Whether it was hanging an unsuspecting victim's keys or purse from the ceiling in the teachers' lounge, sneaking into Mr. Wise's car to hide little bells under the dash which would then mysteriously jingle at every turn, and into Betty's car to crank up the radio full-force to blast her when the ignition was turned on, or simply instigating Mr. Bezely's own superb brand of pranks, Wilbur's antics could always be counted on to keep everyone alert and grinning. Even when faced with previous health problems that may have caused a lesser man to give up, Wilbur always managed instead to cheer up all those around him.

Despite his endless good-natured jocular, however, when it came to maintenance of his buses, garage or student behavior on route, Wilbur could get quite serious. He was one of those rare and wonderful people who can instill discipline and demand the best from others, not through harsh bullying or an insensitive display of authority, but through clearly-set high standards and expectations of others' effort in adherence to his fair rules. Safety, courtesy and responsible behavior were always stressed when Wilbur was behind the wheel. And though he may have been quick to set up tricks in others' cars, he was even quicker to offer a helping hand during any car emergency—especially with his trusty jumper cables for those teachers silly enough to leave headlights on accidentally all day!

Perhaps Armstrong High can find another excellent bus driver and top-notch mechanic. But none of us will ever find another Wilbur.

The best we can do is try to brighten others' days just like he always did.

We will not forget Wilbur and all the good he has done for us. But perhaps we ought not be too sure that his tricks have passed with him. From up there where he views us now, he has an excellent vantage point of all-new and exciting places to hide that rubber snake or dangle those "borrowed" keys. He's probably chuckling about it right now.

Team Behind The Scenes

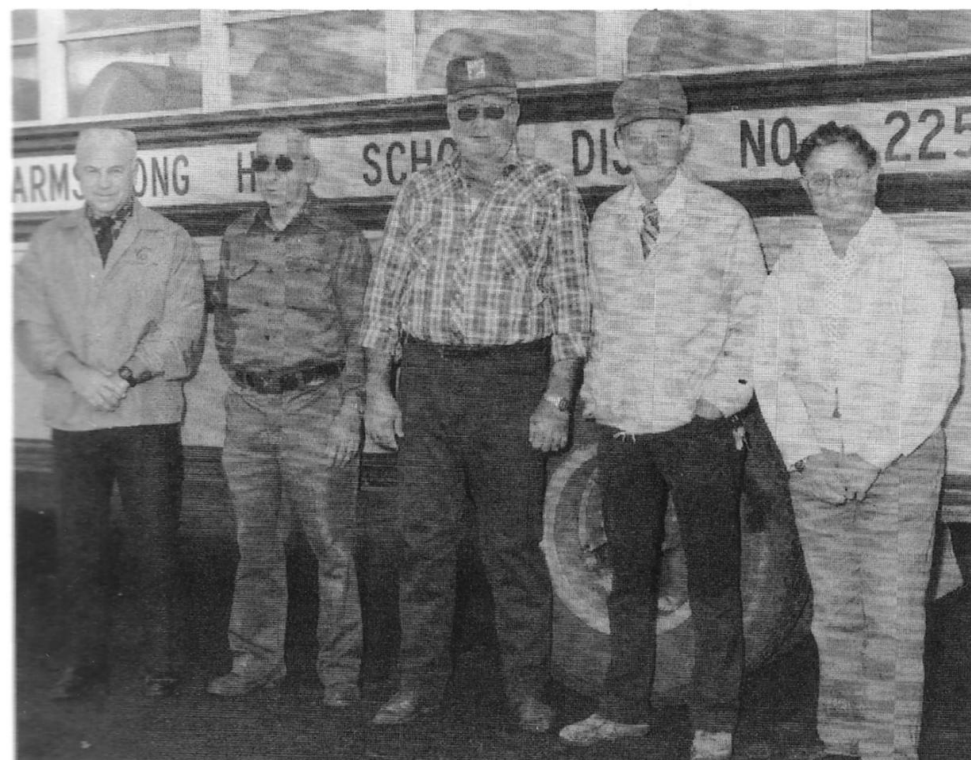

The cook, custodian, and bus drivers all play a big role in the operation of our school system. Working behind the scenes, they feed the students, chauffeur the students, and clean up after the students.

Berneice arrives early every morning to bake, cook, and plan ahead for lunches that will be appealing and nutritious, not always an easy job using those "Government Commodities."

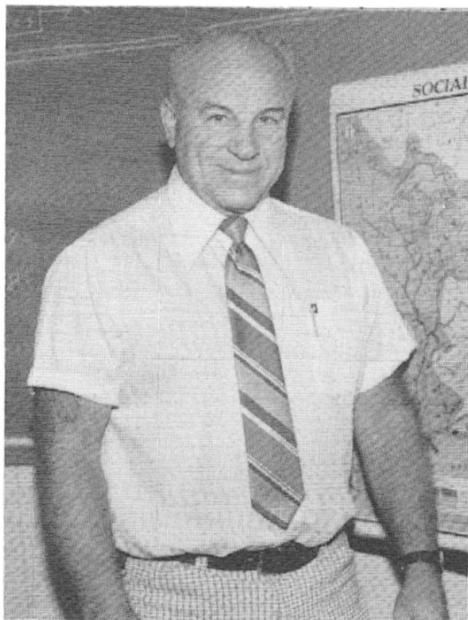

The job of driving the troops from home to school and then back is a huge responsibility. Bus drivers must have an enormous amount of patience, not to mention a desire to travel many miles. While we're hoping for a blizzard to get out of school early, they're praying for sunny weather.

At times, the custodian's job has to be a very trying one; however, John is never too busy to stop and give a student a friendly word or a little advice even if it interferes with his schedule. Broken lockers, mopping water after the storms, locker decoration removal after Homecoming, and spilled food are just a few of the jobs for the man behind the broom.

Thanks for looking after us while we are away from home.

Those on the yearbook staff were interested in finding out some of the teachers' pet peeves. We asked the teachers to fill us in, and here's what we received... Ms. Bohlen—Foremost is my disgruntlement at those who inquire about pet peeves... I'm miffed when so many people (especially freshmen?) fail to realize and act upon this one great axiom: The decibel level of the noise one makes is conversely proportional to his I.Q. (translation: Be quiet!) Misguided (and misspelled) student "composition" on the backs of study hall desks. (Isn't that what bathroom walls are for?) Mrs. Roberts—Accounting students who don't read the chapter before it is discussed. Students not doing their own homework assignments. Uncorrected typing errors! Mrs. Knight—Student apathy, students wanting to take "nature walks" in February, and people who think the world owes them something.

Dances

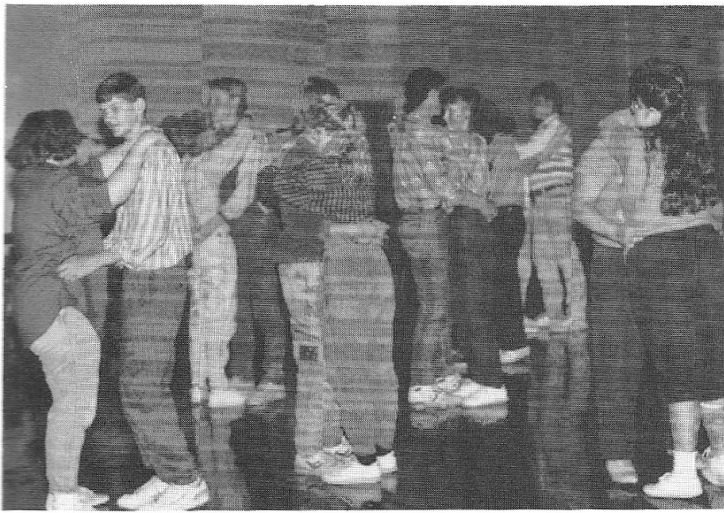

Freshman Dance

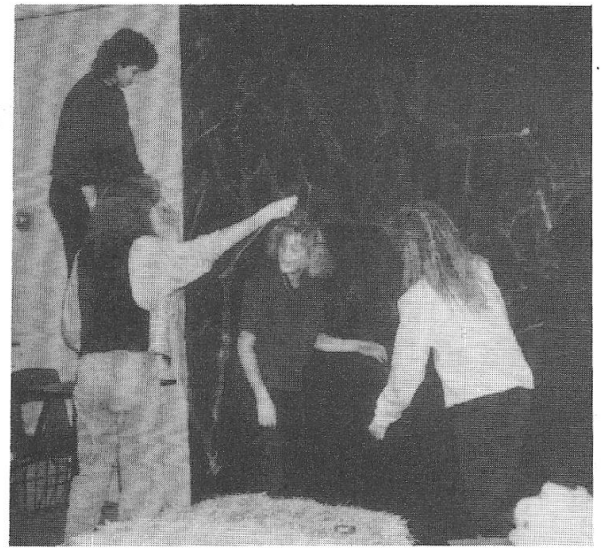

The Freshman Dance, sponsored by the Senior Class, was held on September 22. The entertainment was provided by Jason Frerichs.

The FFA Haunted House was open on October 27 and 28 in conjunction with the Sadie Hawkins Dance.

The Freshman Dance and Sadie Hawkins Dance had large turnouts, and everyone attending had lots of fun.

The Armstrong Trojans faced the Cissna Park Red Devils in their Homecoming game. Our three seniors, Skeeter, Kevin, and Kent, along with the rest of the team gave it their all during the game. We're proud of you guys, and despite the loss of the game, you are still "Victorious" in our eyes.

VICTORIOUS

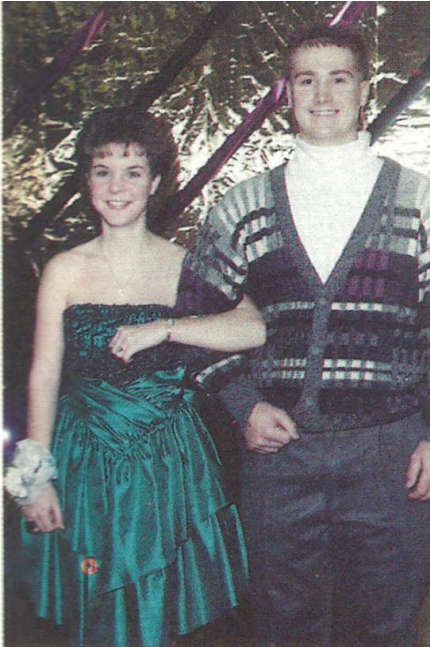

Many weeks before Homecoming, the Student Council began planning for the annual event. After several meetings, a theme was selected, colors for decorating were chosen, and the work began. The Homecoming Dance was held on December 9, 1989. "Victorious" was chosen for the theme, and "Don't Close Your Eyes" was selected as the theme song.

Bright and early on Saturday morning, members of the Student Council began decorating for the dance. Many hours were spent hanging streamers, cutting and covering letters, blowing up balloons, and setting up for the dance; but finally, the old gym was transformed into a glittering dance room using the colors purple, gold, and black. A refreshment table of punch and cookies, baked by the Student Council members, complemented the setting.

The Homecoming King and Queen were Kenneth Ramm and Ranae Zindars. The Senior court consisted of Melissa Cropper, Skeeter Carter, Jeni Johnson, Wes Harrison, Tammy Johnson, and Kevin Foster. Junior attendants were Carrie Rademacher and Donald Belmar; Sophomore attendants were Amy Lamb and Mike Gildersleeve; Freshman attendants were Nicole Buck and Kyle Acton. Last year's Homecoming King and Queen were Matt Knight and Melissa Schluer.

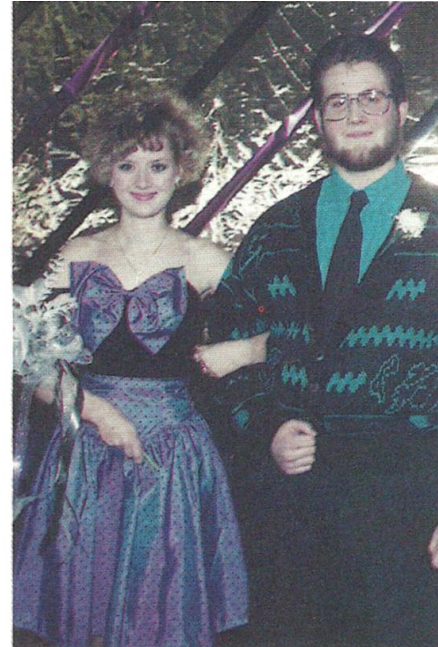

Vicki Jarboe and Shelly Roberts, co-presidents of the Student Council, served as the emcees for the evening.

HEAD OF THE CLASS

Mr. Bezely, Adviser; Wes Harrison, Vice President; Skeeter Carter, President; Kim Lance, Secretary/Treasurer

We arrive at school at 8:10 a.m., grab the flags, and rush out to put them up no matter what the weather be—freezing cold or extremely hot. We learn the meaning of panic when on the bus ride home we realize we forgot to take the flags down and relief when we realize Mr. Kuntz brought them in without informing Coach Bob of our forgetfulness. We know the discouragement it brings when 30 minutes after the flags go up, the rain comes down; someone must bring them in, and that someone is us, the seniors. No matter what the hardships are, we accept them and graciously do our patriotic duty to show our loyal and undying love for our country.

INNER DESIGNS

It's the beginning of the year, and once again we are faced with the dilemma of having a huge empty locker and nothing to do with it. Let's face it, we all have lockers, and they're not the most appealing color, so what do we do? Everyone has his or her own individual taste, and it is displayed throughout his or her locker.

There are the "name brand" lockers in which people put up tags from clothing and magazines. Others go for the wrapping paper look and cover their lockers from top to bottom with their favorite style. Many of the guys display their attitudes with pictures of women, while the ladies seem to prefer metallic colors or pictures of friends. Of course, however, there are also many people who have no imagination and decide to not put any effort towards the decoration of their lockers. Whatever you decide, remember that you have the job of taking down everything in your locker at the end of the year.

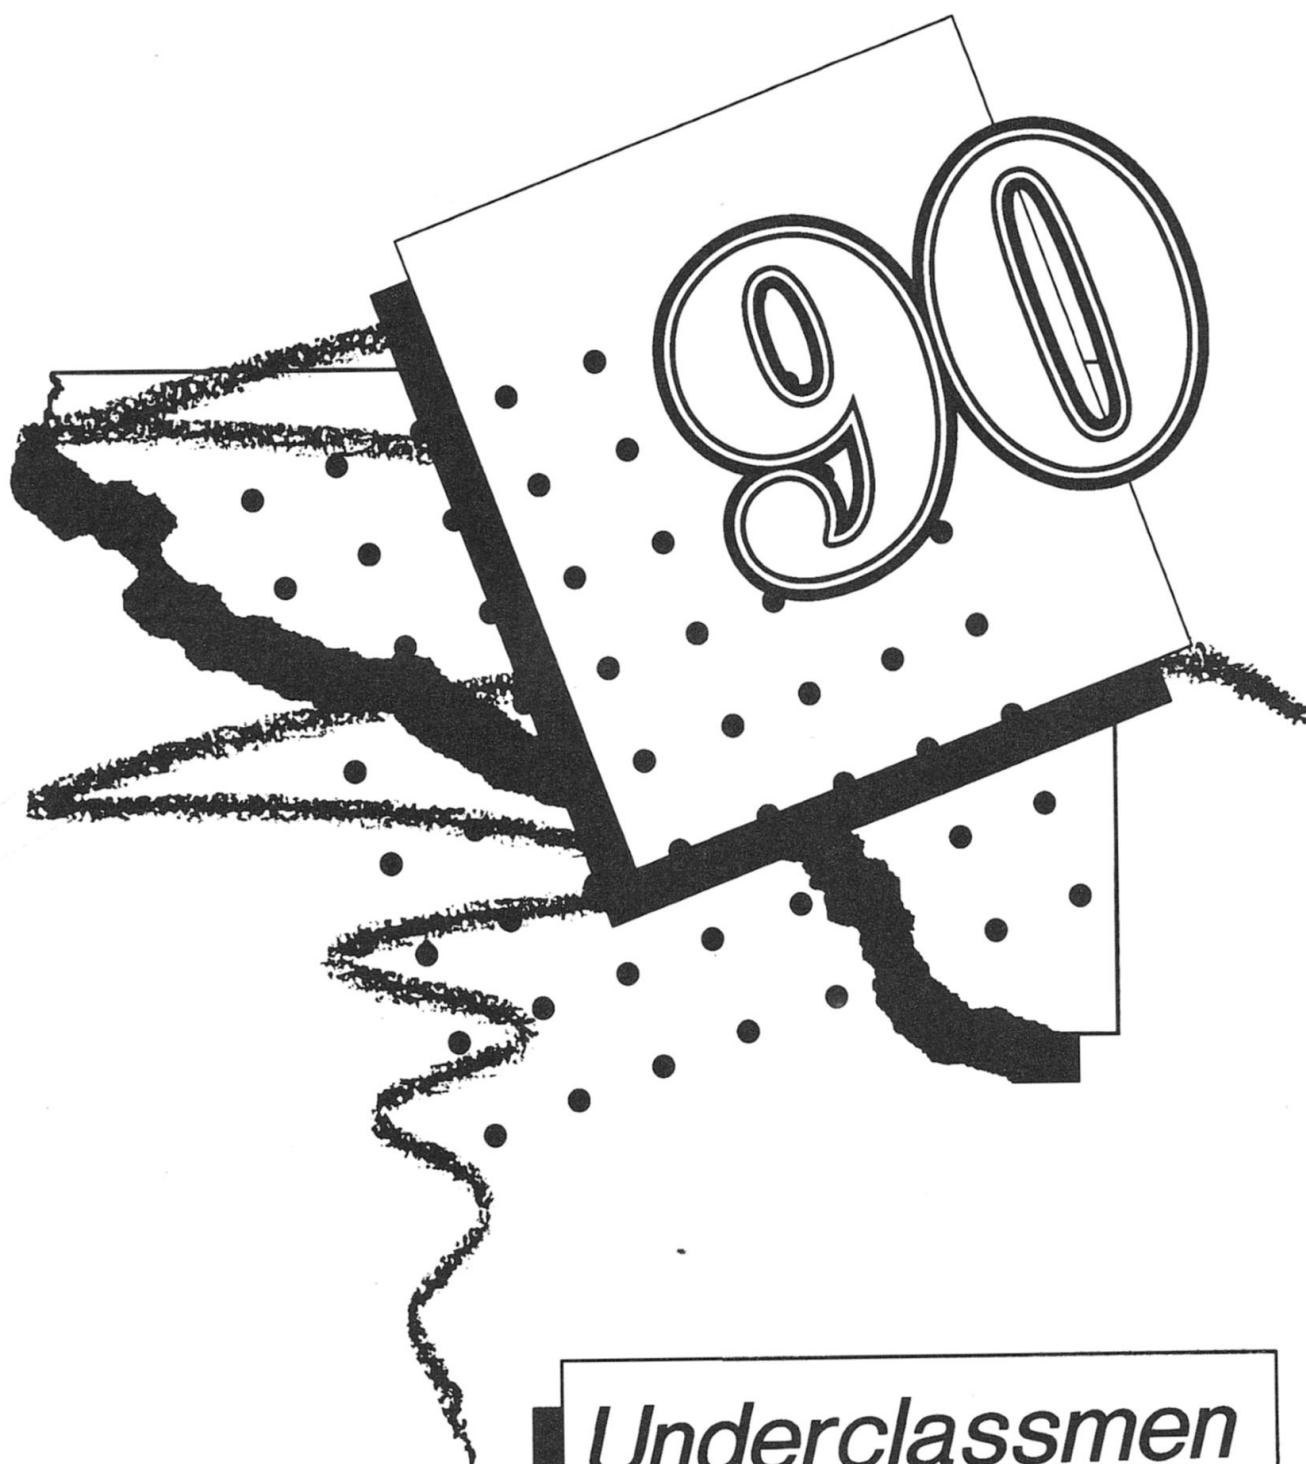

Part of the style which determines what your locker will look like is your neatness level; there are two classes of people, neat and sloppy.

How many times have you or someone next to you opened a locker only to see a huge avalanche of books, papers, folders, last week's lunch, last semester's Home Ec. brownies, and many other items come tumbling out on the floor. These are the sloppy people; the one's who save everything, only to end up packing it into their overflowing lockers, throwing it out at the end of the year, and wondering, "Hmmm, where did this come from?"

On the other hand, there are also the neat people who open their lockers to display a totally immaculate system. Every book is in its place according to the order of their classes. They are the ones who install extra shelves and know exactly what and where everything in their locker is. There are also a few borderline people who are on the verge of being either sloppy or neat. They are the ones who are orderly one week and a total wreck the next.

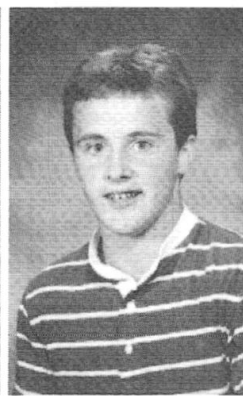

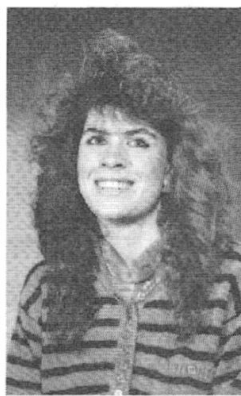

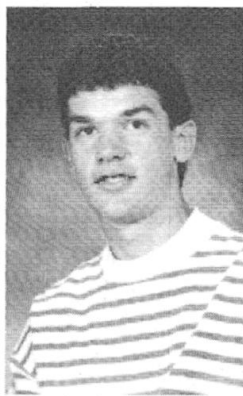

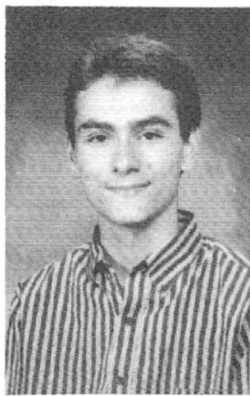

Whatever the case may be, it is your locker, and your individual characteristics will be reflected in it.

It matters not whether your address be Armstrong, Collison, or Penfield; you know you live in a small town when . . .

- You don't use your turn signal because everybody knows where you're going.
- You dial a wrong number and talk for fifteen minutes anyway.
- You are run off the street by a combine.
- You can't walk for exercise because every car that passes offers you a ride.
- You drive into a ditch five miles out of town, and word gets back to town before you do.
- Your classmates in Kindergarten are your graduating class.
- You move in, and you are no longer a stranger after ten minutes, but you're still a newcomer after twenty years.
- The pickups outnumber the cars three to one.

Serving as STAND officers for the year were Tammy Johnson, vice president; Beth Knight, president; Jonathan Blackford, sergeant of arms; Lora Schluter, secretary/treasurer; and Mrs. Kavanaugh, adviser.

Mr. Ray Westefer and Mrs. Kavanaugh ready for the assembly program.

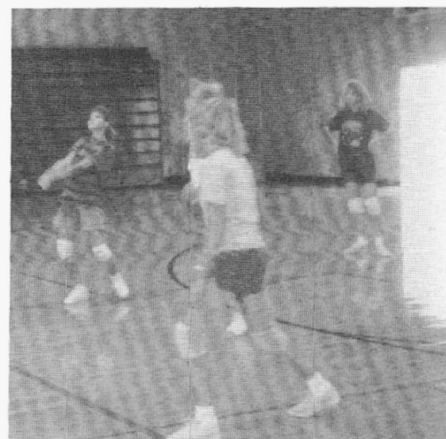

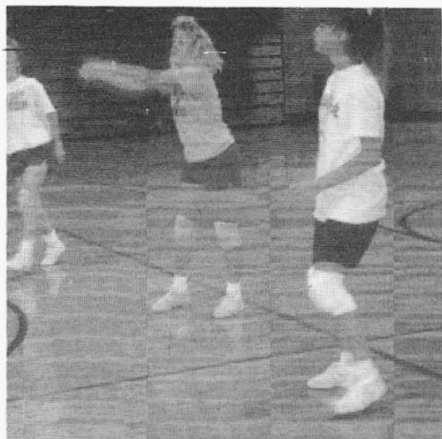

During the school year, STAND had Mr. Ray Westefer speak in an all-school assembly about alcoholism and chemical dependency.

Post-Prom, co-sponsored with the Student Council, was held at the YMCA in Danville. Those attending had a great time swimming and enjoyed pizza afterwards.

The 1990 baseball season brought to Armstrong the first co-op sports activity with Potomac High School. The team consisted of four Potomac and seven Armstrong students.

It was a season with many adjustments: traveling in the suburban to and from Potomac, being the Artesians instead of Trojans, making sure Mr. Stagen knew what time the players should be excused to get to Potomac on time, and getting use to a new coach and new teammates.

Amid the rain storms and below-average temperatures, which resulted in the untimely death of "Mr. Deer," the team managed to have a record of three wins and eight losses.

Drive carefully, Michael.

Kevin, don't put too much in Sara's mouth at once.

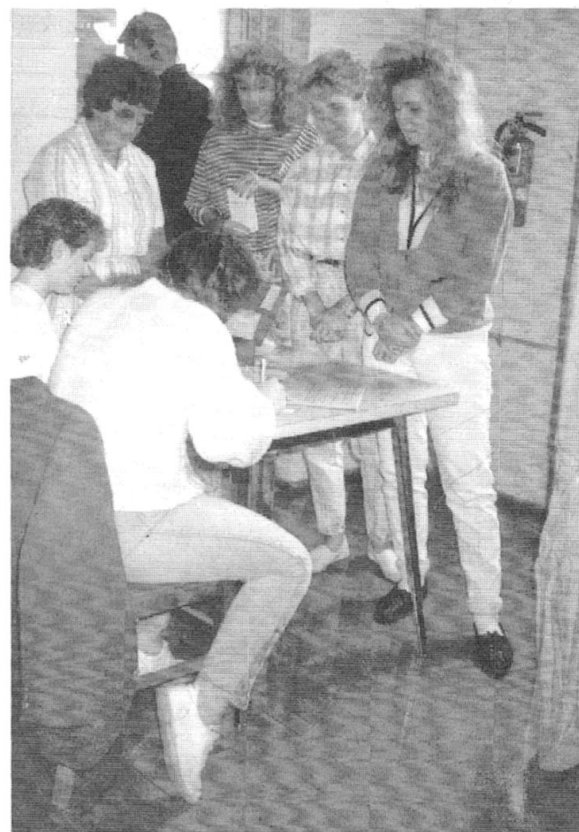

Mike, are you enjoying yourself?

Jeni, you are so scary!!

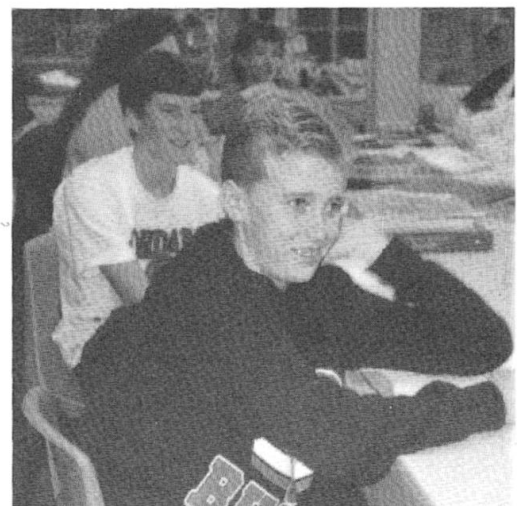

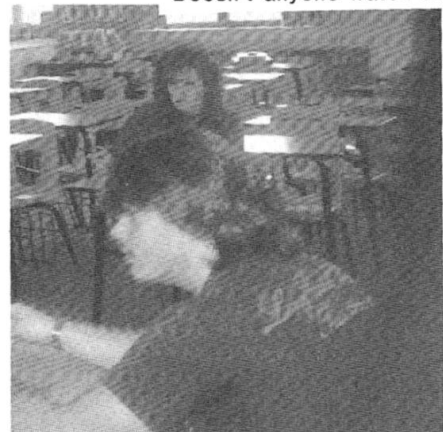

Don't just stand around!

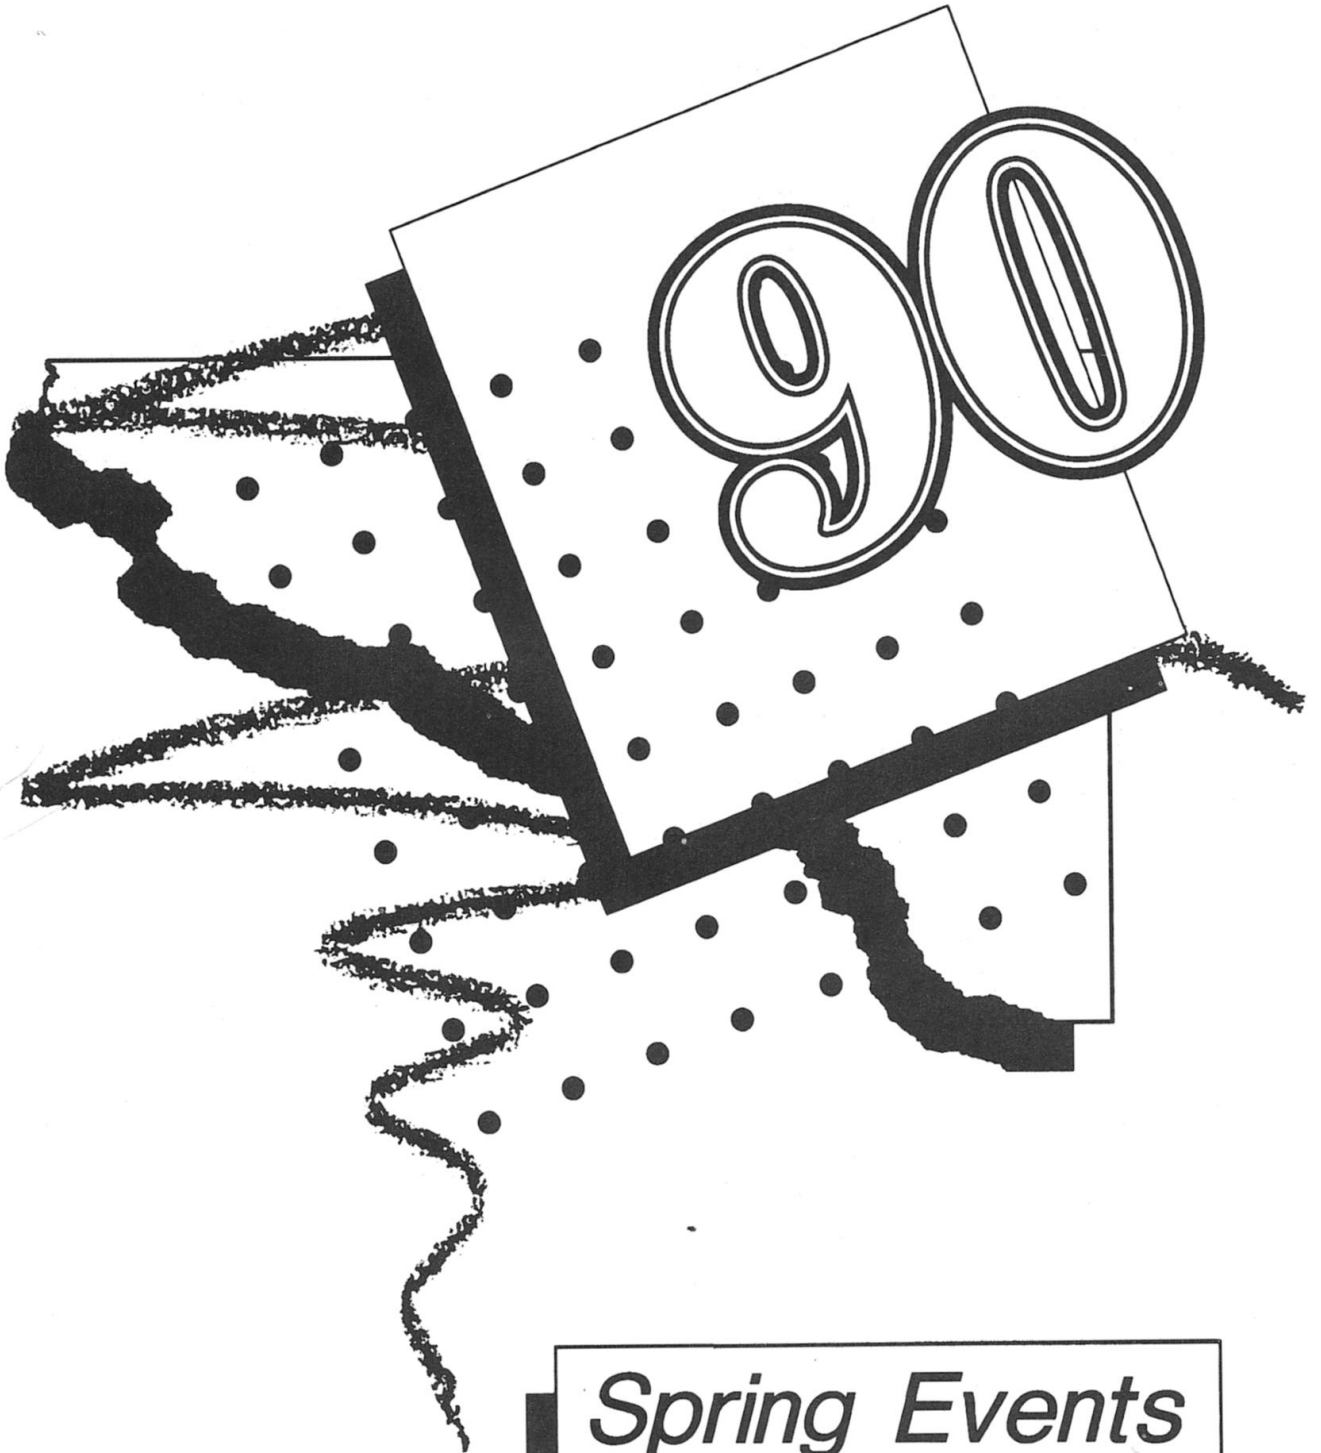

Looking good on picture day.

Doesn't anyone watch the basketball games anymore?

Is Biology that amusing?

Ranae,
My Dimple Darling!
You've grown into a loving young lady. May your future be filled with lots of love and happiness.

We love you,
Mom & Dad

Wes,

I love you very much! Thanks for all your love. You've really changed a lot of things in my life. I'll miss you while I'm gone. I love you always!

Always & Forever,
Melissa

Jeff R,

I just want to say "Thank You" for all the love and support which you have given me throughout the last few years. I know that I will never be able to repay you for all you've given me and done for me, so I just want to say thank you. I love you now and always.

Forever,
Kim Lance

Ranae,

I wish you the best of luck at cosmetology and in the future. You are one of a kind and special in many ways. I will always cherish the memories I have of the things we've done together, that includes cheerleading camp and when we double dated! I will miss you next year. Keep in touch, never change, and get everything there is to offer out of life!

Love ya,
Dusty

Kim, Jeni, Ranae, and whoever else I would be writing to:

Well, we finally made it! It's been a long time coming, but it's finally here. You all have been the best of friends throughout the good and bad times. I'll always remember you no matter where we go or what we do. I'll always be here if you ever need me.

Love always,
Melissa

Melissa, Wes, Brian, Kenny, Kevin, Skeeter, Ranae, Jeni—

As usual, I have no money, so this is a "combination thank you" to Wes and Melissa for all the good times we've had going out; to Brian, Kenny, Kevin, and Skeeter for always being there to make me laugh when I'm really mad; and to Ranae and Jeni for always being there to help me through the rough times and listen to me complain. Thank you all for everything you've done!

Good luck always,
Kim Lance

To all my friends, I say farewell. I wish I could name you all but that would take too long. I can't forget the times we've shared and the memories that I'll always treasure.

I say a special goodbye to Maria Little and Kelli Vermillion. You two were always there when I needed you to listen and give me that extra confidence to keep going.
Thanks for being there.

I last would like to say goodbye and good luck to my brother, Gary. Every day, you listened to me complain and usually didn't say much. You stood up for me when I wouldn't admit you existed. I just wanted to say thank you and even though I try not to let it show, down inside, I love you! I always have and I always will.

Luv always,
Linda J. Duden
"90"

Cackle & Genie,

What memories these names have! I wish both of you lots of luck in everything you do. Always remember cheerleading camp and all of the fun we had!

I love both of ya,
Fruity
